CAUTION:

- This carrier is not meant for holding infants in motor vehicles and should not be used in place of a car seat.
- NEVER carry your baby facing out if he or she is not capable of keeping head and shoulders upright independently.
- NEVER carry your child in the carrier while engaging in physical activities such as jogging, biking and aerobic exercise.
- NEVER use carrier like a backpack -- ALWAYS carry baby in front of you.
- BE SURE to bend at the knees (not waist) when stooping, to help ensure that baby remains securely inside the carrier.
- BE SURE all buckles are firmly fastened.

- Slip your head through the center opening made by the crossed backstraps. The green backplate should rest against your back, with the Playskool logo facing out.
- Snap together the large white waist buckles as shown. (Be sure backstraps do not become twisted.) Adjust backstraps for a secure, comfortable fit.
  - To tighten fit: Pull ends of both backstraps backward at the same time.
  - To loosen fit: Push forward on the edge of both waist buckles at the same time.

PROPER CARRIER FIT

2. Use your left arm to support baby as you snap the ends of the green open-side buckle together under baby's arm.

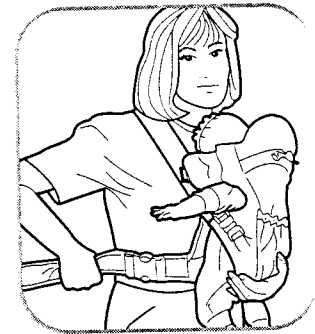

4. Adjust headrest for desired support with drawstring. (Do not make fit too snug; leave room around baby's head.)

5. To protect your clothing when baby faces in, fasten the bib to the shoulder straps as shown. Use the elasticized pocket on the front of the carrier to store bib and other small accessories.

6. To help reduce pressure on your back, the carrier should be positioned high on your chest (see illustrations for correct and incorrect positioning).

7. To readjust carrier for final fit, lift baby with one and use the other hand to pull end of backstraps backward to tighten. Then switch hands to support baby and tighten other backstrap.

ALWAYS KEEP ONE HAND ON BABY FOR SUPPORT.
