Paradise Estate™ INSTRUCTIONS

You will need a large area, such as a table top or floor area, to assemble the Paradise Estate. When complete, the Paradise Estate measures 37 1/2" wide x 32 1/2" deep X 12 1/2" high.

Remove all pieces from the nine plastic bags. If you wish, you may also twist off the pieces on the runner frames.

Diving Board and Pool:

1. Slide diving board onto the edge of pool and snap into place as shown. (ILL. 1)

NOTE: It is recommended that pool be filled after all assembly of the Paradise Estate is complete. Fill a bottle or container with cool tap water and pour it into the pool, or lift pool from base and fill it under faucet before returning it to base. To discard water, carefully lift pool from base and pour water down the drain.

ILL. 1

2. Snap column halves together to form 4 separate columns. Place assembled columns into the 4 holes in canopy frame from the underside. Rotate column until it snaps into place. Press to secure in place. (ILL. 2)

ILL. 2

3. Remove the two pairs (4 pieces) of canopy panels from runner frames. (There is one concave and one convex panel on each frame). (ILL. 3) Fit corresponding panels into holes in canopy frame and snap into place. (NOTE: Panels are identified with letters "A" and "B" on the corners. "A" and "B" are also marked on the underside of the canopy. With the letters facing you, snap the panels into the underside of the canopy so that the "A's" and "B's" line up).

PARADISE ESTATE™

The ponies were spending a relaxing afternoon at the Paradise Estate when Shady burst onto the patio. "My sunglasses are missing!" she cried anxiously.

Cupcake, who was preparing a snack in the kitchen, raced outside. "What's all the fuss about?" she asked. "Shady lost her sunglasses," Sweet Stuff answered between sips of pink lemonade. "My MAGIC sunglasses," Shady corrected her. "And they do some strange things," she warned.

The ponies organized a search party to look for the glasses. Truly inspected the living room, but all she found was Wind Whistler dancing around the room with stereo headphones wrapped over her ears. Ribbon checked the nursery but had to be very, very quiet because the baby ponies were taking a nap. Fizzy hunted outdoors, clumsily knocking over chairs as she looked around. But the sunglasses were no where to be found! The ponies met on the patio, hoping someone had found the glasses. "No luck," Shady sighed disappointedly.

Just then a large THUMP came from the direction of the swimming pool. There was Ripple, the baby sea pony, sitting on the bottom of the empty pool, wearing Shady's sunglasses. "Where'd the water go?" she asked, not realizing the magic sunglasses made the pool appear full.

The ponies laughed as they filled the pool. When the pool was full, Shady's sunglasses made the waves jump up, down and around for a magical game of water tag. "Jump in," Shady urged, passing her sunglasses to the next swimmer on the diving board. The ponies splished and splashed for the rest of the afternoon, happy that Shady's sunglasses had been found.
